

WEISS
Oct. 10, 1972

• Oct 24,
1972
'Orwellian Days'

To the Editor:

These are Orwellian days when war is peace and a 5.5 per cent national unemployment is a rising economy. Yet despite this deranged logic, there is more to be concerned about on the national scene, and that is the casual acceptance by the populace of almost every conceivable immoral or unethical practice on the part of the Administration. Whether it be the I.T.T. scandal, the Watergate bugging, the wheat deal or the bombing of civilians, it all seems to be accepted with a shrug. All this is ample evidence that we have died spiritually, and we are ready for totalitarianism. I remember once a high administration official was fired for accepting an overcoat as a gift.

GORDON FELS

Richmond, Oct. 16, 1972

PREDAWN POEM

Boats in the black harbor make their slow

circles toward morning on their mooring lines.

Petals are closed against another leaden day.

*Gray clouds rolling and ragged simplingly guard the ridged cliff tops.
er's jagged*

The Ten
the Courts w on its two-y
ministration,
appellate pro
system. The L believes it on
the commiss
lishing a ne
existence
reform.

The writer
and judicio
men Voter

To Say

To the E

The in Museum
the-cent
across feated o
from den
Landmar
could hol

The pro
museum
made in came at doing?"

In fourt
in dozens
person de
administrat
the museu